Wikipedia wrote: An Ideal Husband is an 1895 comedy by Oscar Wilde which revolves around blackmail and political corruption, and touches on the themes of public and private honor.

The action is set in London, in "the present", and takes place within a single day.

"Sooner or later," Wilde notes, "we shall all have to pay for what we do."

Wilde's 1893 play A Woman of No Importance includes a discussion of what an ideal husband would be like (and why he couldn't exist). Like his earlier plays An Ideal Husband uses conventional period plot twists (in this case depending on an old letter and a stolen piece of jewelry) and displays Wilde's wit in full force.~~ old, clean cut, and good-looking. In Act 1 he is proud of himself and all he has done in his career and for his country. He is also content with and proud of his marriage. However, his career rests upon a secret: when he was just starting out he sold a government secret illegally to a speculator, who used it to make himself and Sir Robert a lot of money.
