Harley-Davidson 1948-1965 Panheads - Harley Davidson Bike Pics

Harley-Davidson 1948-1965. During the 1950s many law enforcement agencies contracted with Harley-Davidson for police motorcycles such as this 1951 Police Special. Harley-Davidson was hard at work on an update of the Knucklehead even during the solemn years of World War II. Engineers revised the valvetrain to incorporate hydraulic lifters that alleviated the need for constant valve adjustment, and the motor ran cooler thanks to revised heads that were now cast out of aluminum.

Harley-Davidson 1948-1965 | HowStuffWorks

The Harley-Davidson "panhead" engine is a vintage motorcycle engine that the iconic American motor company utilized in many of its motorcycle models manufactured from 1948 to 1965, when the engine was retired for an updated model. Though Harley offered a number of different trim levels for each of its bikes that used the panhead engines, there were only three main panhead versions: a 61-cubic-inch model, an early 74-cubic-inch model that offered slightly more power, and a later 74-cubic-inch ...
