La Regenta is argueably the best-known, best-written novel of the Spanish 19th century - a masterpiece of Naturalism. This enormously lengthy work tells the story of the little vespiary of Vetusta, Spain and the cruelty of its citizens, particularly toward Ana Ozores, La Regenta (The Regent's Wife). In short, Ana has married a rich man who spends all his time working on goofy scientific ...

La Regenta Robusto: a sweet grassiness in the cold draw. Once lit, the opening starts with the same sweet grassiness perceptible in the cold draw. The first third sees the grassiness die down and a mix of leather and wood comes through. Strength is medium – light (2/5). Earth is added to the mix, in the second third. There is also a note of red pepper appearing from time to time. The smoke is ...

Criticism of La Regenta has until recently focused on the text's plot as an extraordinarily coherent and convincing fictional world. Stephanie A. Sieburth demonstrates that the devices which produce order in the text are counterbalanced by an equally strong tendency toward entropy of meaning. The narrator is shown to be duplicitous and unreliable in his judgments on characters and events ...
